Bankruptcy Fee Changes Effective December 1, 2014

At its September 2014 session, the Judicial Conference of the United States approved amendments to the Bankruptcy Court Miscellaneous Fee Schedule that will become effective December 1, 2014, as follows:

- Approved an increase to the fee assessed when a direct appeal is accepted by a court of appeals, from $157 to $207.
- Established a $25 fee for filing a Motion to Redact per Rule 9037(a). The fee is intended to be charged for each affected case, but courts may waive the fee under appropriate circumstances.

The Conference also endorsed a new exception to the reopening fee for a closed bankruptcy case to clarify that the reopening fee does not apply if redaction is the only purpose for reopening a case.
